

Let's Go To The Movies! 2019-2020 Programme

October 30	The Sound Trilogy (2015) This year's programme starts with an appealing session about the latest musical tendencies in London, Manchester and Glasgow, exploring how cities shape the influences and creative processes of musicians and artists. You can't miss it! Brought to you by the British Council and Boiler Room.
November 27	Leonora Carrington: The Lost Surrealist (2017) A journey into the darkly strange and cinematic world of British Surrealist Leonora Carrington. Her dramatic evolution from British debutante to artist in exile, living out her days in Mexico City. In conjunction with the British Council's partnership with the Grierson Trust.
January 29	Paula Rego: Secrets and Stories (2017) A unique insight into the life and work of celebrated Portuguese painter Paula Rego. Notoriously private and guarded, Rego talks about her life battling fascism and a misogynistic art world, among other things. A film directed by her son, filmmaker Nick Willing. In conjunction with the British Council's partnership with the Grierson Trust.
February 26	Out There (2013) This session explores how the lives of men and women in different communities across the globe have been impacted by their sexuality. Stephen Fry meets people working hard to improve the rights of LGBT communities from Africa to America, Asia or Russia. Brought to you by the British Council and the Grierson Trust.
March 25	BAFTA shorts 2019 - Session 1 Get together with fellow art and film lovers to talk about the themes, the cinematography and the direction of the finest selection of British animation and live action shorts from the BAFTA 2019 awards. Brought to you by the British Council.
April 29	BAFTA shorts 2019 - Session 2 Get together with fellow art and film lovers to talk about the themes, the cinematography and the direction of the finest selection of British animation and live action shorts from the BAFTA 2019 awards. Brought to you by the British Council.
May 27	One Strange Rock: Gasp (2018) Enjoy the mind-blowing story, directed by Graham Booth, of how our planet creates and regulates oxygen. On occasion of the Olafur Eliasson exhibition on view at the Guggenheim Museum Bilbao. An artist particularly concerned about climate change. In conjunction with the British Council's partnership with the Grierson Trust.
