MEETING events 2021

Below are the different possible options for using Museum spaces to host professional gatherings and meetings in accordance with the current protocols issued by the health authorities.

The Auditorium is the most appropriate venue for holding meetings, press conferences, or cultural activities. Right now, it can seat 146 people and provides independent access from the exhibition spaces. It has all the audiovisual media needed to make presentations with computers, videos, and film. It can be used any day or time.

The Hall measures 330 m<sup>2</sup> and can currently seat up to 50 people. This space is ideal for small presentations. It may only be used when the Museum is closed to the public.

The Atrium is the real heart of the Museum and one of the cornerstones of Frank Gehry's architectural design. With a height of 55 m and an area measuring approximately 900 m<sup>2</sup>, this is the space leading to the exhibition galleries and the outdoor terrace. The Museum Atrium is an extraordinary venue for special celebrations, such as awards ceremonies, presentations, gatherings, and business forums, and it can currently hold at most 130 seated guests. It may only be used when the Museum is closed to the public.

EDUCATION SPACE

The Education Space is divided into two floors. Right now, gatherings with up to 25 people may be held on the lower floor. The upper floor is smaller, so it can host events with up to 10 people. This space is available as long as no school workshops are scheduled.

The Library is a welcoming venue that features furniture designed by Frank Gehry. Meetings with up to 13 people around a table or 24 people seated on chairs spaced out around the room can be held here.

Museum hours: Tuesday through Sunday, 11 am to 7 pm; open Mondays in July and August
